OVERVIEW

About WIE | Background | Objectives

WHO ARE WIE?

Just like you, we think that the future looks brighter when everyone is working together and contributing, to build and innovate. IEEE Women in Engineering (WIE) is the largest international professional organization dedicated to promoting women engineers and scientists. Our mission is to facilitate the global recruitment and retention of women in technical disciplines through affirmative action. IEEE WIE envisions a vibrant community of IEEE women, men and people from all over the gender spectrum collectively using their diverse talents and perspectives to accelerate progress toward a sustainable future with innovative technology.

Locally, the IEEE WIE student branches at the University of Ottawa and Carleton University seek this brighter future by connecting students with industry leaders, like yourself, through events such as the yearly Wine & Cheese. We have put together this event for 18 years now to benefit you in seeking the best candidates for internships, co-ops, and future coworkers.

EVENT BACKGROUND

The 18th Annual Wine & Cheese event is a celebration of all the women that have carved their way in their industries and of the future generation of women that will continue to do so.

Wine and Cheese provides an opportunity for individuals in engineering and STEM to expand their network and spark valuable discussions in a low-pressure environment with others.

Experts, professionals, faculty, and students are invited to meet others in their field of interest and create lasting bonds for years to come.

Our team is focused on connecting passionate and motivated individuals with the opportunities that will help them make an impact. We believe that getting creative and intellectual people to the places that they can excel is essential in building a sustainable and innovative future.
